We are to provide you with notice of our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to your protected health information. These legal duties and privacy practices are described in this Notice. NCIAP Medical Care will abide by the terms of the Notice, or the Notice currently in effect at the time of the use or disclosure of your protected health information.

NCIAP Medical Care reserves the right to change the terms of this Notice and to make any new provisions effective for all protected health information that we maintain. Patients will be provided a copy of any revised Notices upon request. An individual may obtain a copy of the current Notice from our office at any time.

Uses and Disclosures of Your Protected Health Information not Requiring Your Consent

NCIAP Medical Care may use and disclose your protected health information, without your written consent or authorization, for certain treatment, payment and healthcare operations. There are certain restrictions on uses and disclosures of treatment records, which include registration and all other records concerning individuals who are receiving, or who at any time have received services for mental illness, developmental disabilities, alcoholism, or drug dependence. These are also restrictions on disclosing HIV test results.

Treatment may include:

Providing, coordinating, or managing healthcare are related services by one or more healthcare providers,

- Consultations between healthcare providers concerning a patient;
- Referrals to other providers for treatment;
- Referrals to nursing homes, foster care homes, or home health agencies.

For example, NCIAP Medical Care may determine that you require the services of a specialist. In referring you to another doctor, NCIAP Medical Care may share or transfer your healthcare information to that doctor.

Payment activities may include:

- Activities undertaken by NCIAP Medical Care to obtain reimbursement for services provided to you;
- Determining your eligibility for benefits or health insurance coverage;
- Managing claims and contacting your insurance company regarding payment;
- Collection activities to obtain payment for services provided to you;
- Reviewing healthcare services and discussing with your insurance company the medical necessity of certain services or procedures, coverage under your health plan, appropriateness of care, or justification of charges;
- Obtaining pre-certification and pre-authorization of services to be provided to you.

For example, NCIAP Medical Care will submit claims to your insurance company on your behalf. This claim identifies you, your diagnosis, and the services provided to you.

This Notice is prepared in accordance with the Health Portability and Accountability Act. 45 C.F.R. 164.520

Healthcare operations may include:

- Contacting healthcare providers and patients with information about treatment alternatives;
- Conducting quality assessment and improvement activities;
- Conducting outcomes evaluation and development of clinical guidelines;
- Protocol development, case management or care coordination;
- Conducting or arranging for medical review, legal services, and auditing functions.

For example, NCIAP Medical Care may use your diagnosis treatment, and outcome information to measure the quality of the services that we provide, or assess effectiveness of your treatment when compared to patients in similar situations.

NCIAP Medical Care may contact you, by telephone or mail, to provide appointment reminders. You may notify us if you do not wish to receive appointment reminders.

We may not disclose your protected health information to family members or friends who may be involved with your treatment or care without your written permission. Health information may be released without written permission to a parent, guardian, or legal custodian of a child; the guardian or an incompetent adult; the healthcare agent designated in an incapacitated patient's healthcare power of attorney; or the personal representative or spouse of a deceased patient.

There are additional situations when NCIAP Medical Care is permitted or required to use or disclose your protected health information without your consent or authorization. Examples include the following.

As permitted or required by law:

In certain circumstances we may be required to report individual health information to legal authorities, such as law enforcement officials, court officials, or government agencies. For example, we may have to report abuse, neglect, domestic violence or certain physical injuries. We are required to report gunshot wounds or any other wound to law enforcement officials if there is reasonable cause to believe that the wound occurred as a result of a crime. Mental health records may be disclosed to law enforcement authorities for the purpose of reporting an apparent crime on our premises.

For public health activities:

We may release healthcare records, with the exception of treatment records, to certain government agencies or public health authority, authorized by law, upon receipt of written request from those agencies. We are required to report positive HIV test results to the state epidemiologist. We may also disclose HIV test results to other providers or persons when there has been or will be risk of exposure. We may report to the state epidemiologist the name of any person known to have been significantly exposed, to a patient who tests positive for HIV. We are required by law to report suspected child abuse and neglect and suspected abuse of an unborn child, but cannot disclose HIV test results in connection with the reporting or prosecution of alleged abuse or neglect. We may release healthcare records, including treatment records and HIV test results, to the Food and Drug Administration for the purpose required by federal law. We may disclose healthcare records, except for HIV test results, for the purpose of reporting elder abuse or neglect, provided the subject of the abuse or neglect agrees, or if necessary to prevent serious harm. Records may be released for the reporting of domestic violence if necessary to protect the patient or community from imminent or substantial danger.

For health oversight activities:

We may disclose healthcare records, including treatment records, in response to a written request by any federal or state governmental agency to perform legally authorized functions, such as management audits, financial audits, program monitoring and evaluation, and facility or individual licensure or certification. HIV test results may not be released to federal or state government agencies, without written permission, except to the state epidemiologist for surveillance, investigation, or to control communicable diseases.
